

Zhukov Can Get Along With U. S. If Reds Let Him

Editor's Note — Eddy Gilmore was an AP correspondent in Moscow for 11 years, starting in World War II and ending soon after the funeral of Joseph Stalin. He is just now in the United States on a brief leave.

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer
The time was a late summer day right after the war. The place was the Blue Room of Spasso House in Moscow. The man slouched easily in a deep leather chair was Gen. Eisenhower. I remember asking the question, "What do you think of Zhukov?" "Georgi," he said, "is a very decent fellow."

American and British correspondents who had covered the war from the Russian side had the same opinion of the broad-shouldered, square-jawed Soviet commander. A tough guy all right, but a man who could smile and a man who—unlike many other Red commanders—would give you a straight answer to a question.

Not A Politician
"Do you think we could ever do business with Zhukov?" someone asked.

"Well, left on his own," said Eisenhower. "I believe I could do business with him."

That seemed to be a good endorsement of Georgi Zhukov. It fitted in with what I knew of this man who was a good soldier, but I'm afraid not a very good politician.

Eisenhower visited Moscow after the war as Zhukov's guest. He reviewed a sports parade, attended a football game and was cheered by the Russian people as no American perhaps has ever been cheered in Moscow.

I remember Zhukov sitting around a big table in Berlin shortly after the war. Eisenhower was across the table. Field Marshal Montgomery of Britain was down at one end. A French general whose name I can't remember was at the other end.

Beside Zhukov sat the late Andrei Vishinsky, then deputy foreign minister. I stood just behind Zhukov and Vishinsky.

Prompted By Minister
Eisenhower made a proposal. When he finished, Vishinsky poked Zhukov in the ribs. Obediently Marshal Zhukov got to his feet and recited a routine Soviet reaction. If I remember correctly, it concerned some minor detail of setting up a four-power command in Berlin.

Zhukov was still in the full flight of oratory when Vishinsky suddenly grabbed him by the tail of his smart fawn colored military jacket and—with a yank—pulled him back into his seat.

"You've said enough," Vishinsky whispered to him in Russian. Montgomery made a suggestion and once more Vishinsky poked Zhukov. He jumped to his feet again.

And how well another scene involving Zhukov comes back today. Again it was Berlin, battered and broken after its capture by the Red army hordes. Zhukov sat behind a long table overlooking a pretty little lake. With a matchbox he illustrated how he moved his tanks against the Wehrmacht.

"I brought my tanks against them like this," he said, "and then I brought up two fresh artillery groups over here. And the infantry here."

Banished By Stalin
An American correspondent interrupted him.

Chain Store Tax Repeal Approved By Senate, 21-7

LANSING (AP) — Amid scattered Democratic outcries, the Senate Wednesday voted to repeal Michigan's 22-year-old chain store tax.

The bill now goes to the House, where more opposition is expected. The bill passed the Senate by a 21-7 bipartisan vote, with most of the opposition coming from Democrats.

Sen. Charles S. Blomdy (D-Detroit) argued that small businessmen opposed repealing the tax and said the Senate was too much concerned about the burden of "multi-millionaire chain stores."

Sponsors of the legislation have contended that the tax was "punitive" and "discriminatory," that it was passed to "put the chain stores out of business" and now many independent merchants who have added branches are caught in its operation.

It raises $500,000 a year. The Senate prepared to vote today on a constitutional amendment to create a bipartisan board of state canvassers, supervisors of the state's election machinery.

Amendments by Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) was accepted specifying that neither major political party could have a majority of the four-man board, and no member could be named who was a candidate for any office which the board canvasses.

Guns-For-Butter Policy May Cause Trouble For Russia

VIENNA (AP)—Russia is going to have trouble in East Europe by returning to its "guns instead of butter" policy, Western diplomats in Vienna believe.

The big effect of the Moscow changes, the diplomats predict, is likely to be in the resistance of the 70 million people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Opposition to the Communist regime was strong before Stalin died. A Malenkov announced his policy of more for the people. That undoubtedly lessened suppressed resistance a little, but recent Iron Curtain travelers report continued bitterness and disillusionment.

With the new back-to-Stalin industrialization policy, Western diplomats expect resistance to increase again. Some observers expect it to be kept underground by a revival of the Stalin "big stick" terror policy.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's threat to join Russian and satellite armies under one command may have another purpose besides a military one: it could help to keep the restless East European masses under control, observers here point out.

Economic conditions behind the Iron Curtain are not at all good.

Wisconsin Assembly Rejects Fast Time

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Assembly Wednesday turned down Daylight Savings Time for the state, rejecting 53-46 a proposal to submit the question to voters in a referendum April 5.

The measure may come up for reconsideration later this week but will again face a stiff fight from rural lawmakers who oppose turning state clocks ahead one hour during the summer.

Cook Suspected In Beverly Hills AX Murder Case

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A former man servant was booked today on suspicion of murder in the ax killing of Mrs. Katie Hayden, elderly wife of financier and real estate developer Samuel Hayden.

Booked was Rutherford Leon Bennett, 39, Los Angeles, who detectives said was discharged by the Haydens Jan. 31 after about three weeks' employment as a cook.

Bennett and a man with whom he lived, also brought in for questioning, steadfastly denied any connection with the case and said they were at home Wednesday morning when the slaying occurred. Both are now employed in an automobile assembly plant.

Mrs. Hayden, 71, died soon after she was found on the kitchen floor in her luxurious home by a maid, Mrs. Peggy Smith. She had four head wounds. A bloody ax lay nearby. A few minutes before, the maid told detectives, Mrs. Hayden had gone from the living room to the kitchen to answer the back door bell.

Hayden, 70, had left for his office about an hour before. He is a former Chicago investment broker who has lived here about 10 years.

Denver Students Rough Up Coeds

DENVER (AP)—Denver University's Interfraternity Council placed its Kappa Sigma chapter on probation and ordered its top officers to resign Wednesday as the result of a fraternity "hazing" of 10 coeds.

The stern action stems from an incident Monday in which the girls, all members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, were "tried" at the fraternity house for allegedly having stolen the fraternity's plaque and crest.

As punishment, fraternity members painted the Kappa Sigma insignia on the foreheads of four of the girls and on the panties of a fifth.

Council investigators found the coeds were forced from their sorority house to the fraternity. In the raid on the sorority house, one of the girls was dropped on her head and knocked unconscious. Another girl suffered a sprained ankle when a car door was slammed on it.

Experts Certain Russia No Longer Leads In H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's boast that Russia holds superiority in hydrogen bomb development may refer to discovery in 1953 of a short-cut method for triggering the fusion explosive.

But if that was the case, American officials are confident any temporary advantage the Soviets held has since been overcome.

In some atomic circles here there is a suspicion that Soviet nuclear physicists evolved a technique for setting off hydrogen bombs through heat - producing compression of a high magnitude which required only insignificant amounts of the fissionable material used in conventional A-bombs.

There is the possibility that the Russian technique was perfected almost a year before American weaponers worked out the problem, and may have been tested in the summer of 1953.

However, any Soviet lead made possible by that process—involving a huge saving in time and material—has been overcome and the over-all program of the United States now has moved out ahead again, in the opinion of some American experts.

Crash Kills 3 At Port Huron

PORT HURON (AP)—Three persons—a couple and their grandson—were killed Wednesday night in the crash of their automobile and a loaded salt truck.

Bodies of the victims were mangled almost beyond recognition and the car was demolished.

The victims were Elias A. Fadell, 56, his wife, Rose, 55, and Christopher Fadell, 7, all of Port Huron.

The truck driver, Ruben T. Carpenter, 37, of Milwaukee, suffered from shock but was not injured.

Carpenter told state police the Fadell car skidded broadside into the front of his truck on U.S. 25, six miles south of Port Huron. The highway was clear and dry and police were unable to determine what caused the car to go out of control.

The truck was carrying 35,000 pounds of salt.

Senate Vote Again Tells Reds To Keep Hands Off Formosa

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second time in two weeks, the Senate in effect has told Communist China to keep hands off Formosa.

By a lopsided 64-6 vote, the Senate Wednesday night approved a mutual security treaty with Nationalist China pledging American military might in defense of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands.

A strong favorable vote had been expected in the light of the approval Jan. 28 to President Eisenhower's request for use of American troops in the Far East if necessary.

The Senate approved the treaty with less than six hours of debate. Voting against it were Senators Chavez (D-NM), Gore (D-Tenn), Kefauver (D-Tenn), Lehman (D-Lib - NY), Langer (R-ND) and Morse (D-Ore).

The treaty pledges that the United States, in accordance with its constitutional processes, will help Formosa, the Pescadores and

Colonel Pleased With Penalty In Court-Martial

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Col. Robert V. G. Dunn says he is pleased with the outcome of his court-martial and has no plans to appeal the verdict under which he was ordered to forfeit $150 of his monthly pay for a year.

The court-martial convicted the Air Force officer Wednesday on four of six charges of misuse of Air Force equipment, planes and men. The military court also reprimanded him.

The record showed his base pay is $666.90 a month. An Air Force officer also receives other allowances.

The maximum sentence for the offense is 11 years and 11 months at hard labor. Had he been convicted on all counts he could have been sentenced to 21 years and 8 months of hard labor.

The Kokomo, Ind., officer was accused of using military planes and men in flight to Harrisburg, Pa., to repair two half - tracks (personnel carriers) he had purchased from Army surplus. He also was accused of making unauthorized landings, including some at Kokomo.

Col. Dunn told the court he planned to use the halftacks in an informal mechanics course at Laredo Air Force Base, where he was stationed, and later as experimental machinery at his Indiana farm.

Argentina Removes Priests As Teachers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Ministry of Education announced today the discharge of 100 Roman Catholic priests from teaching jobs in Argentine public schools and three from top positions as education inspectors.

The ministry said the ousters completed its program of removing the church from a position of influence in schools supported by the government. The Catholic religion still will be taught but students will not have to earn passing grades to be promoted.

The government took steps Wednesday to cancel a $5,600,000 annual subsidy to private schools, most of them Catholic.

Wednesday and planned a third for today in an effort to agree on a program.

Speaker of the House Wade Van Valkenburg (R-Kalamazoo) refused to guess whether House Republicans would agree finally on the program offered by Rep. Emil R. Peltz (R-Rogers City). Gov. Williams has called this "the county road commissioners' plan".

Williams has suggested a 500 million dollar bond issue financed partly by a half-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax increase and a 25 per cent boost in truck license fees.

Peltz proposes a two-cents-a-gallon gas tax increase, part of the money going to local governments to finance their own highway bonds. Both plans would be submitted to the people under present proposals.

But the Peltz program is stymied by fears it is unconstitutional to place a referendum on an appropriation.

Williams told his news conference he was willing to compromise, but said he thought the Republicans should make the next move. He said he had taken the first step by abandoning his initial objection to any gas tax increase.

He said, "I feel Michigan needs a well integrated road system with a central backbone of arterial highways."

He conceded he had earlier advocated spreading the bond issue over state and secondary roads, but he explained that all the road men whom he consulted had "agreed it would be unwise to dis-

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP)—Henry Bailey Little, 104, went to the birthday party of a younger friend Wednesday, 100 - year - old Miss Margaret W. Cushing. The city's church bells tolled 100 times for Miss Cushing as Little stopped by with a birthday cake.

Girl Dies In Flaming Car With Fugitive In Wild Jersey Chase

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—A wild auto chase ended in flaming death early today for a man and a teenage girl he forced at gunpoint to drive him in a getaway attempt. eddy was identified as Constance Cobb of Milltown, a pretty, 17-year-old brunette who attended New Brunswick High School.

Police and the Middlesex County prosecutor's office identified her captor as Leonard Pasco, 23, whose last known address was Bound Brook. Police said he had a record dating back to 1951.

Constance, who received her driver's permit only Wednesday drove the car while Pasco held a gun at her neck. It smashed into a Hudson County police patrol car parked as a road block on the Pulaski Skyway.

It skidded, flipped over and burst into flames. The girl and Pasco, trapped inside, burned to death despite police efforts to get them out.

Late Wednesday night, Pasco was picked up by a Milltown patrolman because he looked suspicious. His trousers were soaked to the knees. As Patrolman Hyman Petri was taking him to headquarters, he drew a gun, disarmed the policeman and fled.

He came upon a car parked in a deserted spot in nearby North Brunswick Township. Inside were two young couples, including Miss Cobb.

Pasco ordered all but Miss Cobb out. Then he forced her to drive him north along Route 1. A police alarm was broadcast immediately.

The car was spotted in Elizabethtown, about 20 miles from Milltown, by Motor Vehicle Inspector James Philburn, who gave chase. He said he saw a gun held at the girl's neck. Two motorcycle policemen joined the chase at Newark and pursued the car until it hit the roadblock.

Divorce May Cost Winthrop Rockefeller Million For Lawyers

NEW YORK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller, whose divorce from Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller cost him a reported six-million-dollar settlement, may have to shell out another million dollars in lawyers' fees.

In State Supreme Court Wednesday it was disclosed that Rockefeller already has paid out $500,000 in legal charges, and has another half million to go.

The court action was in answer to a $100,000 suit filed by Boston Atty. Joseph Sax against both Winthrop and Bobo. Sax charge nonpayment for service rendered in 1951-52.

Bobo contended in court that Winthrop took on all legal obligation connected with the divorce last summer in Reno.

Chicagoan Killed By His Own Car

CHICAGO (AP)—James M. Bennan, 44, was fatally injured today when he was crushed by his own car while his wife sat in the front seat.

Policeman Robert Witt said the accident occurred as Bennan and his wife, Elizabeth, 39, prepared to drive away from the driveway of Bennan's sister, Mrs. Bernard Fallon, in suburban Evanston. The car stalled and Bennan got out and went to the front of the auto, leaving Mrs. Bennan in the front seat.

Witt said Mrs. Bennan told him the gear shifted automatically and the car moved forward with Bennan clinging to the front end. The auto went about 70 feet down the driveway, across the street and crashed into a parked car. Bennan was crushed against the parked auto.

Mrs. Bennan told police that she could drive a car but was too frightened and excited to know what to do to halt the machine.

Bennan was the owner of an electric company in suburban Bellwood.

Blasted Formosa Outposts Left To Communists

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chiang Kai - shek's forces blasted and burned a maze of underground defense works and shuttled tons of ammunition and supplies to rocky beaches in the high-speed final phase of the Tachen Islands evacuation.

U. S. 7th Fleet warships churned the East China Sea around the island and jets swept overhead protecting the critical military withdrawal.

Civilians already had been removed. Most of the refugees already were on the Nationalist bastion of Formosa 200 miles to the south.

Soldiers Lug Weapons
Nationalist sources said the withdrawal had been completed on three outlying islands, the Yu Shar group 35 miles northeast and Pish an 32 miles southwest of the Tachens.

The government announced a decision to pull out civilians on Nanchishan, 80 miles south of the Tachens. But official quarters said the military garrison would remain there and probably would be strengthened to maintain the island as a northern shield for Formosa.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker reported from the Tachens that Nationalist troops were "blasting into uselessness a labyrinth of caves and tunnels."

"Seemingly endless streams of brown-clad soldiers sloshed through the mud, lugging boxed mortar shells, hand grenades and machine guns which never will be used to defend this northernmost outpost," Becker said.

Symbol of Defeat
"The Communists are blasting too, on the low brown island of Yikianshan only eight miles away."

"In the choppy, brown muddy waters off the (Tachens) beaches, small landing boats maneuver around the burned hulk of a long LST sunk by the Communists in a shallow water during a bombing before the evacuation started."

"It seems a symbol of defeat and retreat."

HOUGHTON (AP)—A survey of winter sports and resort facilities in the Upper Peninsula will be conducted this winter by Michigan Tech College and the Michigan Tourist Council.

Survey teams from Michigan Tech will visit major resort areas throughout the peninsula. They plan to interview tourists, resort operators and other business organizations.

Results of the survey will be published this summer.

Last year the Michigan Tourist Council sponsored a winter sports survey of the Lower Peninsula, carried out by Michigan State College.

House Democrats Oppose Army Cuts, Party Leader Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts urged the administration today to reconsider proposed Army manpower cuts and said 95 per cent of House Democrats are opposed to them.

"It is a dangerous thing," he said in an interview, "to think that one man is possessed of all knowledge in one field. It could be a terrible thing for our country if the President is wrong."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said some senators also "are greatly disturbed," but that there probably is little Congress can do unless "we want to impeach the President, and everybody knows that is not going to happen."

President Eisenhower has said he made the final decision on the extent of manpower reductions, which propose mid - 1956 armed forces of 2,850,000 men, compared with more than three million now,

The bulk of the cut, 173,000 men, would be in the Army.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, which Russell heads, spent nearly six hours Wednesday questioning Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, about the reductions.

Wilson later told newsmen he sees no reason to revise the plans because of the shift in Soviet Russia's leaders, and he added: "That's the President's position too." Wilson said the program will provide "an adequate defense structure for the United States . . . on a long-term basis."

Two Republicans, Senators Duff of Pennsylvania and Flanders of Vermont, said in separate interviews they are backing Eisenhower's decisions.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee reiterated his support for the President's program.

Removing 'Bad' Drivers Part Of Police Program

The Escanaba Police Department continued its campaign to remove the "bad driver" from the highway in the interest of accident prevention, one among many phases of law enforcement activity of the department revealed in the 1954 annual report issued today by Police Chief Jack Finn.

"During 1954, the police cited 21 drivers for operator's license re-examination because of bad driving records," the police chief reported. "The licenses of 18 drivers were refused on recommendation of the department, and the department is continually expanding its driver records so that more drivers can be removed from the highways."

There were 385 vehicle accidents in Escanaba last year, a smaller number than in the past two years. Most of the accidents were reportedly caused by failure of one driver or the other in a collision to yield the right of way.

More Parking Tickets

The number of traffic deaths in the city totaled 3 last year, compared to 2 in 1953 and 4 in 1952. The number of traffic arrests was 165 last year, compared to 251 the year before.

Police issued 951 tickets for moving violations last year, which was four less than the year before; and a total of 7,278 parking violations and 572 defective equipment and miscellaneous violation tickets were issued. Of the total moving violations, 262 were for speeding, 265 for disobeying stop signs; 38 reckless drivers and 12 drunk driving.

Parking meter tickets went up from 5,036 in 1953 to 7,278 last year, and police office received a total of $2,134 in parking meter fines last year.

Arrests Total 413

The number of all offenses reported to police increased slightly last year in Escanaba, totaling 1,394.

Of the 413 persons arrested during the past year, 144 were juveniles, 243 were adult males and 26 were adult females. Petty larceny increased during the past year, and so also did more serious offenses such as robbery, assaults and forgery. There were fewer false fire alarms, public nuisance complaints, and window peepers.

Police auto patrol miles in Escanaba totaled 130,008 miles. An officer was assigned to assist school children passing the Stephenson-2nd Ave. intersection during the past year.

During the year the department made a total of 3,031 investigations and reports of a non-criminal nature, compared to 1,394 criminal reports. Routine duties included the recovery of stolen property valued at $2,464.40, excluding 11 stolen autos recovered.

Power Supply Bearing Fails

A bearing failure on the No. 3 turbine generator at the Escanaba Paper Company has forced curtailment of groundwood pulp production at the mill, George Douglas, division manager, has announced. The generator supplies approximately 20 percent of the rated capacity of the power plant at the paper mill. If the turbine is not back into operation by tomorrow, it will be necessary to shut down the No. 2 paper machine because the groundwood pulp in storage will be depleted, Douglas said.

Repair of the bearing is being given top priority by the General Electric Co. repair shop in Chicago and the company hopes to have the repairs completed today. Workmen have been assigned to the project on an around-the-clock basis.

Officials of the local mill are attempting to secure the services of the Mead Corporation airplane to fly the repaired bearing back to Escanaba.

Paper company officials pointed out that the breakdown of the turbine-generator is particularly serious because of the power shortage in this area.

Youth, 19, Held On Holdup Charge, Used Toy Pistol

MENOMINEE — Donald Andrew Blahnik, 19, who lives east of Carney, is being held in the County jail pending filing of formal charges for an attempted holdup with a toy pistol of a Nadeau Township farm woman and her daughter about 9 p. m. Tuesday, reports Sheriff Edward J. Reindl.

Held with Blahnik is a 14-year-old companion, who is to be turned over to the juvenile court. Prosecuting Attorney Victor A. Lundgren Jr. planned to issue a warrant against Blahnik this afternoon. Blahnik has signed a written confession of the offense.

Reindl said Blahnik and the juvenile went to the home of Mrs. Thomas Repinski on County Road 374, east of Carney, asking help on the claim that his car was out of gasoline. Mrs. Repinski turned away to get rubbers to go outside and brought her daughter with her when she returned to the door. She was confronted by Blahnik, pointing a toy pistol at her. The 14-year-old boy also had a toy pistol and was standing a few paces away. Both pistols resembled automatics.

Frightened, Mrs. Repinski told them she had no money and pleaded with them to go away. Blahnik replied he didn't want money, but wanted the keys to the Repinski car. The two women rushed the door and slammed it shut and in the scuffle Blahnik's elbow crashed through the glass pane in the door. The two fled into nearby woods.

Sheriff Reindl was notified and went to the scene with Patrol Officers Martin Neret and Harold Stecker and Deputies Lawrence Schultz of Stephenson and Paul immerman of Carney and road blocks were set up. The two youths were captured about an hour later as they walked along County Road 374 headed for Carney.

Only the Power Company's proposal assures Escanaba of plenty of electric power for present and future needs.

Using the Alger-Delta Co-operative's own figures shows that if their plan were accepted, Escanaba, in three years or less would be right where it is today—short of power again.

The City plant proposal is no better. The city's demands for power would probably exceed the dependable capacity of the proposed plant shortly after the plant could be built and placed in operation.

Wards' Cabinets Being Constructed At Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN—Complete kitchen cabinets for retail sale, custom built and of any size and style, will be produced on a full-scale basis by the J. Maracini and Sons wood-working firm, of Iron Mountain, under an agreement negotiated recently with the Montgomery Ward Co.

Actually, the working agreement is an extension of a contract the Maracini company has had with Ward's for the past three years. It means specifically, that all facilities of the Maracini company will be used to supply cabinet orders to 16 Montgomery Ward stores throughout Upper Michigan and north central portion of Wisconsin.

Stores that will be supplied by Maracini - manufactured cabinets include those in Iron Mountain, Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie, Houghton, Iron River, Menominee and Escanaba, in Michigan, and Ashland, Rhinelander, Green Bay, Sheboygan, Antigo, Shawano, Stevens Point, Appleton and Marshfield, in Wisconsin.

These Montgomery Ward stores are situated in an area which comprises a specific Ward District. There are a total of 23 stores in this district, and Maracini is expected to supply the remaining seven stores as soon as the operation is producing enough cabinets to warrant the additional market outlets.

Gladstone And Escanaba Rotary Clubs To Sponsor District Meeting Here

Plans for joint sponsorship of the district conference of Rotary Clubs of Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin were discussed at a dinner-meeting of the Escanaba and Gladstone Rotary Clubs' directors at the Log Cabin last night.

Escanaba was awarded the district conference at the last annual meeting in Wausau, Wis. It was agreed last night that the two Rotary organizations in Delta County would work together in conducting the conference to be held here early in October 1955.

Both Escanaba and Gladstone Rotarians will serve on the various conference committees.

Exchange of members between the two clubs as a means of cementing inter-club and inter-community relationships and facilitating the planning of the district conference also was discussed.

It was decided that the presidents of each club, Denis McGinn of Escanaba and Andrew Canuelle of Gladstone, would schedule two members from their respective clubs to attend the neighboring club meeting each Monday noon. In case he is unable to attend, a member would be obligated to find a replacement, it was pointed out.

The exchange plan is scheduled to start Monday, Feb. 28.

Tom Beaton, Gladstone, present district governor, announced that Al Soetbier, of Ironwood, the governor-nominee, will be here soon to make plans for the 1955 district meeting here.

In attendance last night were William L. Marble, Lex Shaw, H. T. Brewer, Canuelle and Beaton of Gladstone and Dr. Norman Lindquist, A. W. Moberg, John L. Greene, James G. Ward Jr. and McGinn of Escanaba.

Iron Mountain Man Chokes To Death

IRON MOUNTAIN — Martin Smits, 77, a patient at the Freeman Convalescent Home, died of suffocation Tuesday afternoon after a piece of meat from a sandwich he had been eating became lodged in his throat. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Ralph E. Carlson, who was summoned. Robert Rochon, county coroner, investigated the fatal mishap.

The Iron Mountain fire department was summoned and an inhalator used to give oxygen to Mr. Smits, who Tuesday observed his 77th birthday.

Colo., has returned to his home after visiting at the home of his niece, Mrs. Leon Raiche.

A Divided China Is Bad But Not As Bad As Atomic Warfare

OPTIMISTS about a proposed UN cease-fire affecting Formosa and the Chinese coastal islands are hard to find right now. But if one did come off, it would mean considerable change in the Far Eastern situation.

Presumably, a new stability would enter the picture, with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces yielding up their fragile hopes of reconquering the Chinese mainland, and the Communists abandoning their predatory concern for Formosa.

The tensions that have gripped the area since Mao swept over the mainland in 1949 and Chiang retreated to Formosa would relax measurably. The atmosphere has been constantly supercharged by the threat that the Reds would thrust eastward in hope of crushing Chiang, or Chiang would try to regain the mainland to the west.

But the stability would be bought at a substantial price. In one more region of the earth, we would be accepting an unhappily divided situation as the most practicable solution to a difficult national and international problem.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

All of us at one time or another have puzzled over the curious hen tracks that doctors use in writing the prescriptions we take to the neighborhood pharmacist. Many of us feel, I'm sure, that the chief purpose of this cabalistic calligraphy is to conceal from the patient the name of a drug which could be bought for less money were its trade-marked name only known to the patient.

Well, that may occasionally be a correct guess but more often the symbols—undecipherable by laymen—are merely time-honored abbreviations for the Latin phrases which have been used since the Middle Ages. When your doctor writes "Sig. T. I. D." at the bottom of a prescription, he is telling the druggist: "Write on the label that the medicine is to be taken three times a day." Written out in full the Latin phrase would look something like this: "Signum: Tres in die." So you see, the abbreviation of the Latin phrase is actually not designed to confuse the patient but to save both time and space for the doctor and druggist.

A reader in New Rochelle, N. Y., recently put still another query about medical symbols. "Would you," he asks, "explain the meaning of R/ (Rx) on doctors' prescriptions?"

Again we have here an abbreviation of a Latin word. "R/" is medical shorthand for "recipe," imperative singular of the verb "recipio," and literally means "Take." It has a further symbolic meaning, in that the slant bar across the foot of the capital "R" forms the symbol of the Roman god Jupiter, who was believed to take all medicines under his special protection.

On this point some sort of a course record for fast-and-loose translations must have been set by the late, great Ebenezer Cobham Brewer who wrote in his otherwise admirably succinct DICTIONARY OF PHRASE AND FABLE, that the symbol R/ "may thus be paraphrased: 'Under the good auspices of Jove, the patron of medicines, take the following drugs in the proportions set down.'"

So it appears that to the vast resources of modern medical science is added the help of an ancient deity. Surely that's a combination that can't be beaten. Aaaaahhhhhhh! Did I hear some rude wight mention the common cold?

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

It's hard to keep track of family trees out Hollywood way, with divorces and remarriages so prevalent among the movie elite. They say two lads at an executive's estate got into a big fight, with one star's son taunting another. "My father can lick the daylight out of your father."

"You're bawdy," answered the other calmly. "Your father is my father!"

"Mike," a county judge told a familiar old figure at the bar, "I'm letting you go this time, but mind you, I don't expect to see you here again."

Mike looked mighty surprised. "How come, Judge?" he inquired anxiously. "Are ya aimin' to retire?"

The Doctor Says... Renal Glycosuria Not Serious As Diabetes; Should Be Watched

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Readers of this column, I am sure, fully realize that diabetes is a serious disease but perhaps have less understanding of the related condition known as renal glycosuria.

Q—My husband has sugar in his urine but no other signs of diabetes. Is renal glycosuria serious? Mrs. O.

A—It is usually impossible to tell the difference between diabetes and renal glycosuria by examining the urine alone. To make this differentiation the sugar in the blood must be determined also. Renal glycosuria differs from diabetes in that the sugar in the blood is normal but there is a low threshold for sugar in the kidneys which allows the sugar to spill over into the urine. Renal glycosuria is not as serious as diabetes and people ordinarily live in perfect health with it though one who has this condition should be watched from time to time for the possible development of diabetes as well.

Q—I am a widow 72 years old and look much younger. I am going to marry a man a few years younger. Would it be possible that I could have a child? Mrs. E.

A—In this instance it would be quite safe to say that it would be impossible to have a child.

Q—I have a constant, sore, burning sensation in my tongue. Have you any idea what may cause this or what can be done for it? Mrs. K.

A—This is unfortunately a common and most unpleasant symptom. If there are visible signs of irritation of the tongue the situation may be related to such things as pernicious anemia, lessening of the output of saliva, diabetes or vitamin A deficiency. It is also possible that it is related to some local condition such as the presence of dissimilar metals in fillings in the teeth. Finding the root of the trouble may be quite difficult and involve the cooperation of both the dentist and the physician.

Q—My husband suffered severely from linitis for many years and no treatment seemed to stop it. Finally we worked it out ourselves. He had to do a great deal of entertaining but does not drink alcoholic beverages and, therefore, drank numerous soft drinks. When he discontinued the linitis cleared up and when he has tried it again the linitis has come back. What is your comment?—Reader.

A—This is certainly an unusual story. Considering the enormous number of soft drinks which people drink I should think that as a rule this beverage would have little to do with linitis.

Q—I am 76 years old and worked all my life until six years ago. I have never been sick until the last three months. Now after supper I take a 15-minute walk but little by little I begin to feel a pain in my chest and must stop to take several deep breaths. What do you think this could be? J. B.

A—The description accurately fits the condition known as angina pectoris. If this is confirmed by examination your physician should give you advice and perhaps medication for this disorder.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The evacuation of the Tachens has now begun, and if it is successful, which we need not doubt, the position will be stronger and safer than it was before.

A great deal has been said and written about how important it is to hold positions of strength. The Tachens were not a position of strength. They were a military and political liability. They could not be defended except at the risk of a general war which no one in his senses would undertake for such unimportant territory. The Chinese Nationalist troops on them had nothing useful to do, and they were in a military trap—like the French at Dienbienphu. Had they been lost, instead of being evacuated, Chiang would have made the same military error as the French made when they locked up a garrison at Dienbienphu, locked it up in an outpost of no decisive importance which could not be defended. The story in Indo-China might well have been different from what it is today if a policy of evacuation from indefensible outposts to concentrated strong points had been carried out.

These considerations apply to the other off shore islands, and the sound American policy would be to follow up what is being done in the Tachens by doing the same thing in Quemoy and Matsu. This is the surest way to carry out the policy which the President laid down in his message to Congress. The policy is to keep Formosa and the Pescadores out of unfriendly hands, and to bring about a cease fire in the Formosa Strait. There is one way by which at present Formosa can be defended. That is by American military power. But there are two ways in which the policy of the cease fire can be put into effect. The one—which we have been attempting—is to negotiate a cease fire with Peking. If they would agree to it, they would tacitly assent not to attack Formosa and we—so it is generally understood—would in return bring about either the neutralization or the evacuation of the off shore islands.

CEASE FIRE REFUSED

This way of arriving at a cease fire has been rebuffed angrily by Chou En-lai. We ought not to be surprised. It was wishful thinking to suppose that the Chinese government, which has won the civil war on the mainland, would appear as a non-member before the Security Council in which China is represented by a faction that is no longer on the Chinese mainland. It was no less wishful to suppose that the Red Chinese would publicly sign a cease fire which meant that they had renounced the right to complete the defeat of Chiang and to recover by force the island of Formosa.

It is most improbable that the cease fire can be obtained by public agreement either in the U. N. or in any other kind of conference.

There is, however, another way to bring about the cease fire for which the United States national policy calls. It can be done by direct American action, and it does not depend upon the negotiation of an agreement with Peking. This is to do in Quemoy and Matsu what we are doing in the Tachens—to evacuate them not as the result of a bargain but as a strategic measure to liquidate a position of weakness, and to fall back on Formosa, which is a genuine position of strength.

Once that is done, there will be in fact, whatever Peking may or may not agree to, a practical cease fire in the Formosa Strait. Pin-prick bombing and shooting and raiding, which the Nationalists do from these off shore islands, will stop. There will be a hundred miles of blue water between Red China, which has no navy, and Formosa, which we are defending. In a military sense this will be for all practical purposes a cease fire between the two Chinas—as there is between the whales and the elephants who cannot get at one another. Formosa will not be in Peking's military orbit. The fantasy of putting Chiang back on the mainland by an all-out American war will have been dissipated. The risk of a great war over trifling islands will have been greatly reduced. We shall have protected our genuine, as distinguished from our fictitious, interests, and we shall have the moral and political support of our allies.

Farm Machinery Race Looms As Ford Co. Gets Into The Act

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

DETROIT—(NEA)—The year 1955 will launch an era of competition in the farm machinery industry as wild as that in the passenger car business.

And the inevitable result, experts predict, will be half a dozen giant firms controlling most of the business and many of the present 1400 local manufacturing companies eliminated or swallowed up by the leaders.

Another result could be some startling improvements in farm machinery, inspired by the competition.

The announcement by Ford Motor Co. that it is now ready to "challenge the leaders in the farm machinery industry," is behind this development.

For the first time in its history, Ford will produce a whole line of small-to-large tractors in its new Highland Park, Mich., plant, expanded and modernized "at a cost in the tens of millions." Traditionally, Ford has had about 20 per cent of the tractor market with only one model.

After tinkering with various sales systems since the war, Ford is ready to rely on 32 independently-owned distributors and a chain of 2800 franchised dealers. Traditional basic sales unit in the industry is the "branch," wholly owned by the manufacturers.

But the heart of Ford's long-range effort in this field is a new research and engineering center just outside of Detroit which will include 500 top farm equipment engineers.

This staff will provide the blueprints to Wood Bros., Inc., a Ford manufacturing subsidiary in Des Moines, Iowa, and other manufacturers, for the production of new pieces of equipment.

Ford already has 125 major implements in its line. The man selected to head this ambitious endeavor is aggressive Irving A. Duffy, general manager of the new tractor and implement division. He is a former executive of International Harvester, present leader in the industry. Says Duffy:

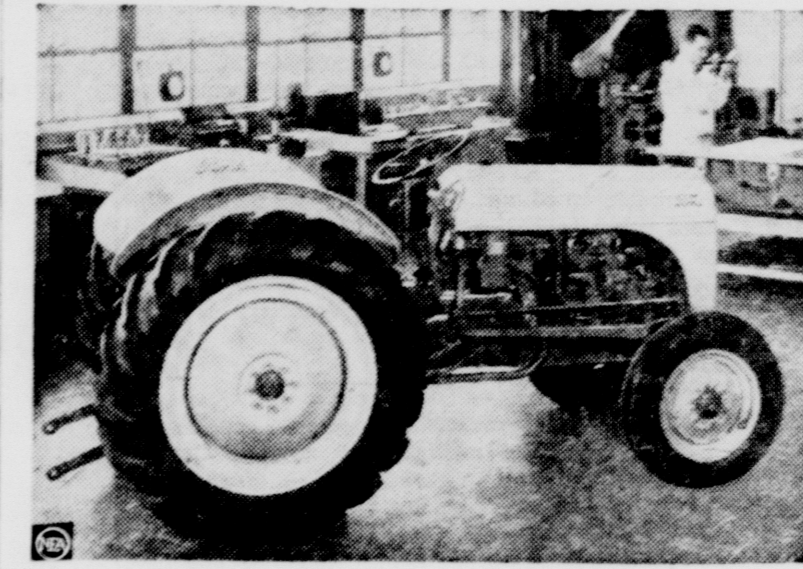

"Ford has never entered any field with the idea of being runner-up. We are going after, and expect to get, an increasingly larger share of the important farm equipment market. We are prepared to back up our effort to achieve this goal with every resource at our command."

This is ambitious talk, but the stakes are high. U. S. Department of Commerce figures reveal that the 1954 total volume of farm machinery sales was about $1.6 billion. And its prediction is that this will go up to $1.8 in 1955.

Exact figures on the slice of the business each firm has is not a matter of record, but unofficial estimates give Ford only about six per cent of it. International Harvester has had about 23 per cent, Deere & Co. 15 per cent and Allis-Chalmers about 8.5 per cent. Other big names in the field are Massey-Harris-Ferguson, Case, Oliver and Minneapolis-Moline.

Reports from these firms indicate that they are aware of what Ford is setting out to do but are happy to accept the challenge.

They are prepared to match Ford's new line of tractors with innovations of their own. One firm is going to feature a new auxiliary electric power generator as an attachment to its tractor. Another firm is coming up with an improved corn picker which shreds the stalks for silage while it picks.

Another long-range result of this development in the industry, Department of Agriculture experts concede, is a speeding up of the trend toward larger farms. Improved farm machinery has added larger farms because that's where big pieces of equipment are most economical.

One of the motives behind this Ford venture, it is said, is the determination of Henry Ford II to make his grandfather's dream come true. Henry Ford Senior's introduction of the mass-produced Fordson tractor in 1917 really started the mechanization of American farms. Since then Ford has produced about 2,225,000 farm tractors.

But it was always the elder Ford's dream to have a full line of equipment as is now planned.

Pitdown Charlie Still Haunts British Museum

LONDON—(NEA)—Next to the Crown Jewels, the Magna Carta and a few other knick-knacks, a thick, grayish-yellow skull known as the Pitdown Man was until recently regarded as Britain's most priceless treasure.

Discovered in 1912, it is supposed to be the skull of "the earliest Englishman", a beetle-browed chap with a murderous jaw who roamed the forests of Sussex 500,000 years ago.

So valuable was the Pitdown skull that it was kept locked up in a special safe in the British Museum of Natural History—which was a mistake.

For had the scientists been able to get at him, they might have detected years ago that Pitdown Man was a two-bit phony.

As it was, it took them 40 years to discover that the Pitdown skull was, in reality, a not-so-old human cranium matched up with the jawbone of a young chimpanzee.

Still no one suspected Charles Dawson, the man who discovered the Pitdown skull, as the hoaxer. Dawson, who died in 1916, was a highly-respected lawyer in Uckfield, Sussex, who dabbled in fossils as a hobby.

Today, mention the name Dawson to a nervous museum curator and he will drop a trayful of pterodactyl eggs. For "Pitdown Charlie," as he now is known, stands revealed as the greatest faker of all times.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Eisenhower's special message to Congress on his Formosa fight policy resolution got reduced to a football game when the subject reached the Senate floor for debate.

Explaining that "I used to play football badly," Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts (Harvard, 1914) said: "A player, let us assume, is about to throw a forward pass. Is the opposing team going to let him throw the pass without any effort to defend its own goal line? Or is it going to stop him? We see that situation in every game of football we watch."

But Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee (U. of Tenn., 1924) interpreted this analogy as meaning preventive war. What Senator Saltonstall was saying in effect, said Senator Kefauver, was "that if you see a fellow about to throw a pass, you jump in first, to break it up."

"Yes; but you do this only after the game has started," observed Senator William F. Knowland of California (U. of Calif., 1930).

"No!" objected Senator Kefauver. "He (President Eisenhower, West Point, 1915) did not say anything about waiting until after the football game had started."

Senator Saltonstall then gave his interpretation of the rules. "As the senator from California, who has played football, perhaps more recently than I, knows—one cannot throw a forward pass until after the game has started."

TELEVISION MEN say that representatives of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have approached them on the possibility of having one of his press conferences filmed and televised.

Secretary Dulles, of course, has a starring role in the premiere live telecast of a Cabinet meeting, after he returned from the Paris conference.

The secretary is now said to believe that telecasting the presidential press conference was so successful he'd like to get in on the act, and make his pronouncements direct to the American people instead of through reporters.

ATOMIC ENERGY Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss recently sent a letter to Herbert L. Block, a Washington cartoonist who has been pretty critical of AEC policies in his drawings. The letter said:

"Before you run me out of town, would you mind sending me one of your originals, for my collection?"

CARLETON SMITH, head of the National Arts Foundation in New York, is trying to cook up a unique program to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of his home town, Bement, Ill.

This little central corn belt city (pop. c. 1500) has one principal claim to fame. Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas met there July 29, 1858, to arrange their schedule of seven debates on slavery, now known to every school child who studies American history. Bryant cottage, built in 1856 and still standing in Bement, is the place where the two candidates for Congress held their meeting.

To celebrate the Bement centennial, native son Smith conceived the idea for another series of debates on the big question of this day and age, 98 years after Lincoln and Douglas argued out their number one issue. When Mr. Smith asked British Historian Arnold Toynbee what the subject of the 1955 debate should be, he got this surprising answer:

"The central problem today is the same as when Lincoln and Douglas debated. It is—

"Can the world survive—half slave and half free?"

REP. HENRY O. TALLE (R., Ia.) has come up with the interesting statistic that the U. S. government will spend over $32 million next year—just gathering statistics. This is an increase of $5 million over this year and the year before.

Department of Agriculture is the biggest statistical gathering agency in the country, with all sorts of reports on crops and research. They will cost an estimated $12.5 million.

Bureau of Census is a poor second with estimated expenditures of only $7.5 million—except in those years when it has to make special census reports on agriculture or business. They cost an estimated $5 million or $6 million more.

Bureau of Labor Statistics in Department of Labor, which handles cost of living index, employment and wage rates, spends a little under $7 million on its facts and figures.

Foreign experts who go into international conferences with the United States complain that Americans are statistics mad. They say the Americans are always yelling because other countries can't produce accurate figures on the per capita consumption of popcorn and such things.

The waiter went off and Johnny said to Hertha Colston, "Did you know about Alice Cummings before yesterday?"

The color faded from Hertha's face and a shudder seemed to run through her. Don Wheelwright exclaimed angrily, "That's a lousy thing to ask her, Fletcher."

"It certainly is," agreed Johnny. "But the police are going to ask her that question, if they haven't already?"

"They asked it this morning—between 7 and 9 o'clock. They asked me a lot of things, among other things, if I . . . had killed Jess."

"And what did you tell the police about knowing Alice Cummings?"

"I told them that I knew about her. In fact, I told them I had even met her. I also told them I knew about a woman named Maxine and one named Mavis and one named Madeline and a cigaret girl and four chorus girls." Her face was still pale, but she looked steadily at Johnny. "He told me about some of them himself and well, the gossip columns told me about the others. I—I was still going to marry him."

"Because you thought you could change him?"

"Because . . . I loved him."

"That's a very good reason," Johnny said.

It was a few minutes after 2 when Johnny faced the doorman of the Harover Club. The doorman naturally spoke grammatically correct English. "Whom did you wish to see?"

Johnny looked around him with exaggerated care, then said in a low tone, "I'm an investigator, employed by Mr. Jess Carmichael."

The doorman showed concern. "I do hope, sir, that you will be discreet."

"That, sir," said Johnny with quiet dignity, "is why Mr. Carmichael engaged me. Discreet, confidential investigations are my specialty. No one, positively no one, will even know that an investigation is being made."

"Thank you, we would appreciate that. We realize that these things have to be done, but after all, this is the Harover Club and our members . . ." The doorman emitted a slow sigh of ecstasy.

"I would like to see the manager."

"That'll be Mr. Whittlesey. Right through the door, past the bell stand and the door on your right."

Johnny entered the club, walked past the bell stand and knocked discreetly on the oaken door. The bell captain opened his mouth to question him, but caught the eye of the doorman who followed Johnny into the club. The doorman put his finger to his lips, nodded gently.

The bell captain said, "Mr. Whittlesey is in the billiard room, sir. If you'd care to wait . . ."

"I'll find him, thank you," said Johnny.

He walked into a large combination bar and reading room. A dozen or so men sat in leather chairs reading. A group of sporty, younger club members were gathered about a table playing Indian dice for 10 cents a game and received annoyed glances from some of the readers because of their restrained boisterousness.

Johnny tapped a club member on the shoulder. "Could you tell me where to find the billiard room?"

"Same place it's always been, old man."

The clicking of ivory balls being knocked together led him to the billiard room, which contained a half-dozen billiard and pocket billiard tables. A uniformed attendant turned from racking up a triangle of pool balls and Johnny crooked his finger at him. The man came over.

"Mr. Whittlesey here?"

The attendant turned and nodded toward a silvery-haired man wearing a dark gray suit. He was chatting with a couple of club members who were playing billiards.

Johnny walked up to the table. "I wonder if I could speak to you for a moment, Mr. Whittlesey."

The manager of the club looked at Johnny with polite surprise.

"Why, I don't believe I know you."

"You don't," Johnny inclined his head for the manager to come aside with him and Whittlesey followed him until they were out of direct earshot of anyone else.

"My name is Fletcher," Johnny said, "I've been engaged by Mr. Jess Carmichael to make an investigation."

Horror spread over Mr. Whittlesey's features. "An investigation here—at the Harover Club?"

"The inquiries can be tactful, discreet . . . or . . . they can be rather distasteful. It depends on how much cooperation you will give us."

A little shudder ran through Mr. Whittlesey. His eyes went to the far side of the room. Johnny, following restrained a slight start. James Sutton was at the farthest table playing billiards with a pudgy little man. He did not see Johnny, however.

"What—what did you want to know?"

"Everything you can tell me about Lester Smithson."

"Mr. Smithson! But he's dead—he died years ago."

"Did he?"

"Everyone knows that, thought your investigation, that is, I assumed it would be . . ." He faltered.

"You thought it would be about Jess Carmichael III?" Johnny shook his head. "No, it's Lester Smithson. I'm trying to find him."

Only Car at its Price* . . .

So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac. In fact, when you choose Pontiac the decision comes very easily—because Pontiac alone, at its price, gives you everything!

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Certainly there is no question on this point. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase—124 inches in the Star

Chief, shown here, and 122 inches in the 860 and 870 series—is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the price and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

Predict School Of Future Will Be Open All Year

ANN ARBOR — The school of the future will be in session all-year-round, seven days a week, a University of Michigan educator predicts.

Prof. G. Max Wingo of the University's School of Education claims that the 12-month development is almost bound to come about in answer to social pressures which are demanding that some now neglected services to youth be met. "The school of the near future will have to take over some of these services or face the consequences," according to Professor Wingo.

He charges that in the last generation the school has resisted just about every effort to increase its responsibilities. "In the initial stages it balked at feeding children at noon, at driver's training, and at offering recreational programs. The assumption of these responsibilities was forced on the schools by a great groundswell of social necessity. The school simply hasn't been able to resist so powerful a force. We do teach teen-agers to drive cars now, we have increased our vocational departments, and in my judgment we will continue to do so," the professor declares.

Who Is Responsible?
But teaching youth to drive automobiles (and incidentally to dodge them!) is just the beginning. There's still a vast area of necessary services — complex and controversial issues — now for the most part being by-passed by the schools and other social institutions. Professor Wingo asks:

1. Who is going to give instruction in the physiological, emotional and ethical aspects of sex behavior? 2. Who is going to take systematic responsibility for maintaining the health of the younger generation? 3. Who is going to be responsible for systematic religious instruction? 4. Who is going to help children develop worthwhile avocational interests and skills?

If the school does ignore these pressing issues and returns to the kind of institution that some critics are urging it to be — a purely academic institution teaching the liberal disciplines primarily — it will become increasingly removed from the people, the educator warns.

Work And Play
"My guess is that if that should happen we would see the development of some other now unknown institution that would furnish these vital services to youth," he says.

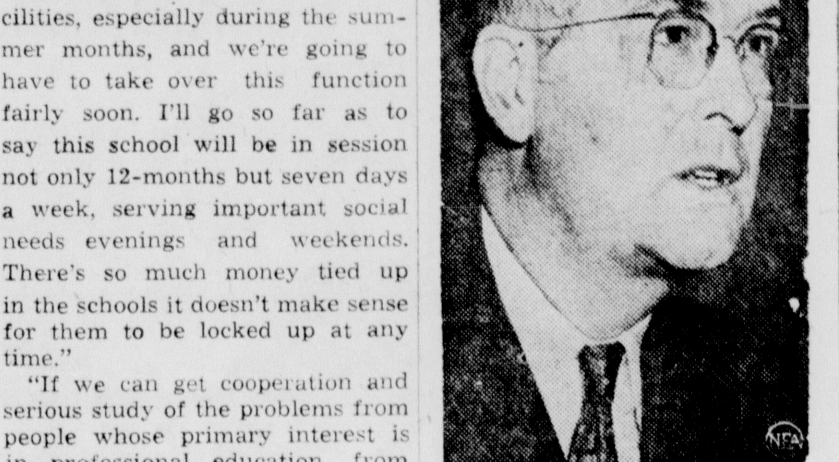

He predicts that such an institution would be publicly supported, as the CCC was during the Depression, and that "it would aim at giving young persons certain kinds of vocational skills and the opportunity to do useful work, as well as furnishing recreational facilities, at present served by the corner drugstore and the road-house."

"In other words, society is going to offer these services some way or other. If it can't do it through the school it will find some other way. The school in this case might well find itself a minor institution, competing for public funds."

Professor Wingo asserts that "it's plain silly to leave these problems up to the family. The family in our present urban, industrial society can no longer give vocational training. There's even some indication that the family is not giving much attention to children's health."

Summer School
A 12-month school — with much greater teaching personnel and vastly greater facilities — wouldn't be the school as we know it, now, he says.

"We are going to have to take a lesson from the summer camps and offer greater recreational facilities."

How To Have Hair For A Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive interview by Steven Bright

WICHITA (Special) — J. Wayne Green, Director of Rogers, Inc., Hair and Scalp Specialists, explored the "myth of baldness" today in an exclusive interview.

"Baldness is unnecessary, costly, and a plague to mankind," says Green. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature-old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Rogers method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness — can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair — can make you look youthful again."

Demonstration To Be Held In Escanaba, Michigan
This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Escanaba, Michigan, Friday ONLY, February 11, at the Delta Hotel. Trichologist J. G. Blevins will conduct the private, individual interviews from 12 noon until 9:00 P. M. on Friday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and you need no appointment.

Reason for Baldness
"There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament — hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today."

Heredity Not Involved
Trichologist Green dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness — heredity. "Mankind's unrealistic belief that baldness is hereditary stems from a misinterpretation of the theory of genetics. Theory does not state that any person must be bald because baldness exists in the family. What it does say, is that in some families, a tendency exists towards an undernourished scalp." The purpose of the Rogers Hair and Scalp Clinic is to teach the methods of strengthening the weak scalp and nourishing it to a healthy, vigorous condition. "A healthy scalp will grow hair if it is not already completely bald," assures Green.

Is There Hope For The Completely Bald
In his travels throughout the United States and Canada, Green has collected hundreds of testimonials of his ability to develop weak fuzz into healthy, mature hair. All of his clients have started with a private examination, hair and scalp analysis, and a diagnosis of the disorder. Green is quick however, to tell a hopeless case that he cannot be helped. "We strongly advise," says Green, "that no person who is completely bald hold any hope whatsoever of regrowing hair. If there is any fuzz at all, we can restore a healthy scalp condition and the hair will grow normally again as nature intended."

Offers A Guarantee
"Rogers, Inc., America's Foremost Hair and Scalp Specialist, offer a guarantee to any client who enrolls for treatment. If he or she is not completely delighted with results at the end of 30 days, the money invested will be graciously refunded," pledged Green. "We must have satisfied clients. We must grow hair. After all, it is our best advertisement."

Is Your Hair Healthy?
If you have a scalp disorder, or if you are worried about your hair, call Trichologist J. G. Blevins at the Delta Hotel in Escanaba, Michigan, Friday ONLY, from 12 noon to 9:00 P. M. The public is invited. The examinations are private and open to men and women. You do not need an appointment, and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way. (Adv.)

Animals, Also People, Make SPCA Headaches

AP Newsfeatures
SAN FRANCISCO—Animals can cause emergencies and the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is ready to deal with them. It is one of the oldest in the business. But a lot of the time human beings are the ones that cause trouble, says James Brown, superintendent of the animal shelter.

Maybe it's the fellow who sees a dog on his neighbor's vacant premises and thinks it is neglected. Usually arrangements have been made for care of the pet. SPCA records show that out of 3,913 reports on dogs, only 69 were found to be neglected. Investigators put a piece of tape across door or gate cracks. If the tape is broken when they return, they are pretty sure someone has entered to care for the pet.

Or it can be the woman who sees a cat up a tree or on a roof. Mostly the cat knew what it was doing all the time and has departed before officers arrive. One woman found a stray dog in the park and said, "I told it to stay right there until you came."

"Dog disobeyed lady," was the SPCA report.

But the records also show that animals really can get themselves into trouble. Cats are the worst, Brown says. They crawl under the hoods of cars to warm themselves by the engine and are burned or caught in the machinery when the car starts. Their heads being bigger than their bodies, they get wedged into cans and jars, air chutes, light wells, sewers, fences, coil springs or narrow spaces between buildings.

SO THIS IS WINTER
HILLSBORO, N. H. (AP)—Local residents don't need a calendar to know it is winter. From the time Frank D. Gay, 89, was a boy of 15 he has worn rubber boots through the cold months. He has them on today.

GETS TEETH INTO IT
SHAMROCK, Tex. (AP)—A rattlesnake struck at J. A. Coleman. He slapped the snake across the head, then beat it to death.

He wasn't bitten, but he did get so mad he gnashed his teeth together and had to have three pulled.

Americans spend almost nine billion dollars a year on alcoholic drink.

HOTELS USE FOAM TO CLEAN CARPETS
Good hotels, whose carpets get far more wear than yours, know foam cleaner is the answer.
Hotel managers say foam cleaner such as Fina Foam does the job quicker and better than any other kind. Foam is easier to use, leaves nap fluffy and brings the colors back like new.
With the new Fina Foam, you clean your wall-to-wall carpeting standing up, easily with a long handle brush, and it's ready for use in a few hours. It's economical, too. A gallon of concentrate for $2.25 makes three gallons of solution, enough for three 9x12 rugs.

Hawaiian Holiday CONTEST!

all expense trip for two...
eight glorious days VIA...

NORTHWEST AIRLINES!

CLOSES MIDNITE
FEBRUARY 16th, 1955Contestants Must Be 18
Or Over.

Here's what your trip includes!

Wherever you live in the United States, you will be in Hawaii in one day when you fly Northwest Orient Airlines' fast Douglas DC-6B. You will leave from the airport and hence to the Northwest Airlines Port closest to your home where you will be transferred to a Northwest Orient DC-6B flight to Seattle. (Port of debarkation).

As a visitor from the U.S., you need no passport and pay no custom duties. You are a "malihini" (visitor) and will be greeted with the traditional token of welcome, the lei.

Thrilling sights and activities abound in the Hawaiian Islands—swimming and surfing at the spectacular, mile-long Waikiki Beach... The dramatic spectacle of its two active volcanoes—Mauna Loa and Kilauea Rainbow Falls, where the 1950 lava flow will still warm your shoes... Giant Haleakala Crater where multi-colored cones of cinders tower more than 1000 feet above you.

The magical names of Hawaii spell romance and adventure... "Honolulu", "Waikiki", "Pearl Harbor" and the magnificent "Nuuanu Pali" with its majestic view.

Eight tropical volcanic peaks comprise the chain of islands known officially as Territory of Hawaii, U.S.A. These islands are Kauai, Niihau, Oahu, Molokai, Lanai, Maui, Kahoolawe, and Hawaii. Each is famous in its own right for scenic beauty where the unusual is the commonplace. Each should be visited if one is to experience all of the wonders of Hawaii.

Long before you leave the islands, you will no longer be considered a "malihini".

Marriage Cuts Son Off In Will

BOSTON (AP)—Harold B. Gordon, of Attleboro, Mass., cut off from his father's will because he married a girl not born a Jew, plans to take to the U.S. Supreme Court his fight for a share in the $500,000 estate.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court Tuesday upheld the right of the late Joseph Gordon to cut off his son from the will because he married a Roman Catholic.

The son contends his wife was born of the Jewish faith because she converted shortly after their marriage in 1949 and in the Orthodox Jewish creed her conversion was retroactive to birth.

He asserted also that the marriage clause in the will was invalid on the grounds it was against public policy to restrict marriage.

Harold Gordon married Veronica Ann Albaugh, of Berlin, N.H., in Elkton, Md., on May 11, 1949. The father died in 1944.

The State Supreme Court's ruling, written by Justice Raymond S. Wilkins, said the marriage clause in the will was not restrictive.

By its ruling, the court ordered the son removed as trustee of the trust which has been administering the estate, including bus companies in Taunton, Mass., and Berlin, N. H.

Opposing contest of the will were four of Gordon's five daughters.

TEEN TALK
BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures
Do you know what to talk about? To relatives and strangers as well as good friends?

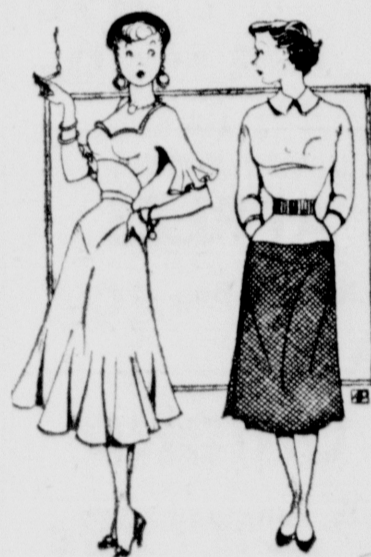

Pretty, vivacious Diane Harris, about whom the radio-TV character Corliss Archer was built by her author-father, says she'll bet you don't, even if you think you do. Says she:

"Most young people aren't taught to hold a conversation. Parents do not help develop their curiosity for important things. Sure boys talk about sports and girls know a little about the theatre, but that about covers it."

Lots of parents when asked a question will respond by saying, "oh look it up in the encyclopedia," instead of discussing the point, she says.

"The only thing my own parents fell down on," says the 25-year-old Diane "was in not teaching me to read newspapers and books. Otherwise they were wonderful."

Wholesome Age
Diane looks back at the inspiration she was for her father's rollicking character Corliss, and says that she is grateful now that it was such a wholesome era—no smoking, drinking, high-heels or low-cut dresses, unlike young girls today—but she just wishes she'd learned "more about what happened in the world during that period, while it was going on."

Young people are pushed into maturity now long before they are equipped for it, she says. Lots of them practically go from the cradle to marriage. Some 12-year-old girls who can't add or tell you where the capitol of the United States is are permitted to smoke, drink, wear high-heels and lipstick and steady date, something well-bred bobby-soxers in her era didn't do, she says.

She thinks girls should marry at about 24 and men at 30 "but until then," she says, "unless they're exceptional, they're just not ready."

Not Ready
Young people today live for "simple, unimportant pleasures," according to her. How can they pass on good sense to another generation when they haven't learned to evaluate things for themselves, she asks.

Not all young people fall into this pattern, of course, says Diane, but a large percentage do ruin their lives by trying to reach adulthood too soon. Eighty-five per cent of girls who reach age 25 are married today, statistics show, and the majority of first mothers is under the age of 20. Says Diane:

"Because my father used me as a yardstick for teen-agers I have spent a lot of time thinking about the situation. We used to analyze the way they felt all the time."

Rev. E. G. Parker At Presbyterian Church Sunday

The Rev. E. Graham Parker, Presbyterian missionary on furlough from India will speak at the First Presbyterian Church at the 10:45 a. m. service Sunday, Feb. 13.

Mr. Parker has been in India as a representative of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions since 1923. During these 31 years he has served the mission in a variety of capacities in the cities of Etah and Fategarh. During the last six years he has been business manager of Memorial Hospital in Fategarh, and for over a year was the superintendent. He had supervision of the hospital's building program which included the construction of a doctor's residence and a new home for nurses. He is also the Board's attorney and had general responsibility for all mission property and repairs. This involved a large amount of legal work, and some court cases.

When Mr. Parker first went to India he was assigned to evangelistic work in the Fategarh district. To help the Christians and other rural folk in their economic life he started a bank for them, which, though primarily for savings, also made loans. For a few years he edited a Hindi vernacular monthly newspaper. He was also editor of a Hindi song book and hymnal for use in the villages. From 1934 to 1938 he was executive secretary of the North India General Board at Fategarh and Jhansi for the North India Mission, and for a year he was acting secretary for the India Council. In 1930-31 he was associated with Bishop Pickett in his study of the mass movements toward Christianity, which resulted in the publication of the book, "Mass Movements in India."

In 1940 he was transferred to Etah to take charge of the evangelistic work in that area where Christians are scattered in some 300 villages. Here, too, he organized a cooperative bank for mission workers. During the absence on furlough of other missionaries Mr. Parker had charge of the Etah Boys' School, and at another time of the mission Model Goat and Poultry Farm.

Mr. Parker is from Maryland. He is a graduate of Park College, Parkville, Mo., and of McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, and also has studied at Edinburgh University, Edinburgh, Scotland. He interrupted his missionary work to teach for three years in a boys' school in Cairo, Egypt.

Be Your Best In Snapshots

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Oh, those awful snapshots! Why is there never one that looks decent enough to give a boy friend? And you just know that horrible one that's all teeth is going to turn up in the annual.

Teenagers suffer agonies over the way they look in snapshots. About the only presentable one shows you in dirty blue jeans, and that won't do. The discomfort of the awful new snapshots is only slightly less ghastly than the miseries caused by the baby pictures that delight your parents.

You can look like something in future snapshots if you make a conscious effort while the picture is being taken. This won't protect you from the one that's taken while you were blissfully eating a hamburger, but it will help on the posed ones.

Remember that whatever is closest to the camera will photograph largest. Watch your feet and knees on this one.

If you don't know what to do with your hands, hide them. Put them behind your back, in your pockets or in your lap. Just forget them.

If you're standing, stand firmly on both legs, not on one hip. If you're sitting, don't let your legs sprawl, but place your ankles together lightly.

Look pleasant, but don't force a smile that will come out looking funny. Lick your lips, if you get a chance.

Remember that a head-on shot is least flattering. Whether it's a head shot or a full one, turn yourself three-quarters to the camera.

Try to be informal. Unless you talk with your mouth wide open, be photographed saying something casual rather than assuming a stiff expression.

Perfume's Scent Is Its Fortune

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Like all alcoholic products, perfume's biggest customer is the air. Left in bottles, perfumes evaporate and change color. In some cases, they disappear entirely, leaving the disgruntled owner with a fancy bottle and not even a whiff of that lovely smell.

For this reason, use the perfume rather than admire the bottle. Yes, perfume can be overdone. But a wise woman has a wardrobe of perfume that she uses with discretion. She beats evaporation to the bottom of the bottle.

For everyday use, most women prefer a perfume or even a cologne that's light and clear. It doesn't knock one out in a closed room, but leaves a nice who's-been-here aroma.

For evenings out or entertaining, a woman should have a perfume for each sort of costume. For nights when she's being exotic, she has one scent. For more formal affairs, she has another—cool but certain. She would no more wear the same scent to a harvest party that she wears to a dance than she would wear the same dress to both.

For maximum efficiency, perfume should be worn in pulse spots, wrists and crooks of arms, the temples and the sides of the neck. Nice too, on the hairline and upper lip.

To enhance her carefully arranged hair and the clothes she has selected for the evening, a woman should pick perfume to suit the occasion, wear it in pulse spots.

When you have meat left over that you plan to use in hash, do not cut, grind, or slice it until you are ready to use it. Cooked meat keeps best in the whole piece; store it in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Nancy Ostman On Tour Of Chicago

Miss Nancy Ostman, who recently spent the mid-semester vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ostman, 1204 8th Ave. S., was among the group of 27 music majors attending Northern Michigan College of Education who spent a weekend in Chicago. The group attended "The King and I", programs at Concert and Orchestra Hall and television and radio programs.

Newcomers' Club Meeting Tuesday

The Welcome Wagon Newcomers' Club will meet Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 8 p. m. at the Sherman Hotel. A short business session will be followed by bridge and canasta. Instructors for beginners in bridge will be present. All newcomers to the community are invited.

Stonington Aid Meeting

The Ladies' Aid of Bethel Lutheran Church, Stonington, will meet at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Johnson at Rapid River Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 8 p. m. Members and friends are invited. Potluck lunch will be served.

If you serve cream sauce often, you'll find it convenient to keep a butter-flour mixture in the refrigerator to use in it. Just blend a half cup of butter or margarine with a half cup of flour and store in a tightly covered jar. For a thin sauce, stir 1½ tablespoons of the paste into 1 cup of scalded milk, then stir constantly until bubbly and thickened. For a medium sauce, use 3 tablespoons paste and 1 cup milk.

Mrs. Nora Healy, Of Gould City, Dies Wednesday

Mrs. Nora Healy, 78, of Gould City, died at 9:30 a. m., Wednesday at her home after an illness of 1 1/2 years.

She was born July 13, 1876 at Shelby, and moved to Naubinway in 1891. She lived there three years with her sister, Mrs. Elsie Moore, and then moved to Gould City in 1894, where she has lived since, except for 13 years spent at Edmonton, Alberta, Can.

Mrs. Healy was the former Nora McQueen. In March, 1894, she married Cornelius Healy at Gould City. He died in 1910. Mrs. Healy was a member of St. Joseph Church at Gould City and St. Joseph Guild.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J. E. LeClair, St. Albert, Alberta, Can.; Miss Mae M. Healy, and Miss Cassie E. Healy, of Gould City, nine grand children, and 13 great grandchildren.

Funeral services are tentatively scheduled at 9 a. m., Saturday at St. Joseph Church, Gould City. Burial will be at Newton Township Cemetery.

Friends may call at Messier-Brouillette Funeral Home, Manistique at 7:30 tonight. The body will be taken to the family home Friday morning, where friends may call at 11 a. m. The rosary will be recited at the family home at 8 p. m., Friday.

Police Check BB Vandalism

Approximately 28 street light bulbs have been damaged by BB guns, and city police are investigating. Chief Roy Anderson reported today.

Lights on both sides of the river were damaged and BB shot was found in some.

The persons causing the damage appeared to have used a car, the chief stated.

U. P. Is Attached To Small Business Office, Minneapolis

The Upper Peninsula of Michigan, formerly attached to the Cleveland office of the Small Business Administration, now is attached to the Minneapolis office, Fred H. Hahne, U. P. representative on the board, reported today.

The change took effect Feb. 3. In the future Hahne will attend meetings with the Minneapolis board rather than Cleveland.

Valentine Party Is Slated For Junior High Group

A Valentine party for Junior High students will be held in the old gym Friday from 7:30 to 10 p. m., Donald Dissinger, principal, reports.

The committee in charge consists of Judge Grover, chairman, Connie Anderson, Ann Cowman, Willetta Rice and Ellen Jasmin.

The Board of Education Tuesday also voted a $75 contribution to the Upper Michigan Child Guidance Center in Marquette. The center, which gives mental and physical evaluation tests to children from all parts of Upper Michigan, needs $1500 additional revenue this year because the Children's Fund of Michigan, instituted by the late Senator James Couzens, has expired.

The additional funds will be used for rent and clerical help. Salaries and expenses of the professional staff at the Center are paid by the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and county boards of supervisors in the U. P. supply $4500 for operating expenses.

A committee was instructed Tuesday to ask for bids on coal for the school, and the school superintendent was asked to begin compilation of school board policies from minutes of board meetings. Later the school board plans to draft written policies which will be compiled in separate volumes.

During the session, School Supt. A. F. Hall reported on adult night classes, and stated 66 were enrolled.

Home Economics Students Begin Garment Project

First year home economics students in Manistique High School this week began making blouses and skirts from commercial patterns, and later will model them in a style show here.

This is the first construction project for the 50 high school girls, who last semester studied foods.

Clothing care and selection as well as construction are emphasized in the course, taught by Mrs. Jerome Hoholik.

Card Party

Sacred Heart Court, 186, WCOF, held a card party on Tuesday evening at the Parish hall. A large group was present. In the bridge games, Mrs. Clifford Chroge was high and in five hundred, Mrs. Carl Reimer received the award. Mrs. Joseph Trucky was high in Canasta and Mrs. Alphonse DeMenter in smear. In whist, Mrs. Joseph Waeghe was high. The special award went to Mrs. Jesse Cartwright.

The committee was composed of Mrs. Joseph Martin, chairman, assisted by the Mmes. J. J. Gnat, Ruben Boyer, Andrew Wills, Charles Lemirand and Louis Jackovich.

The next Forester meeting will be held on March 8 and election of officers will be held.

Coterie

Mrs. Sidney Ridings will entertain the Coterie on Tuesday afternoon, February 15, at her home, 1302 Wisconsin Ave. A review of the book, "The Captain and the Kings" by Edith Helm, will be given by Mrs. George Kelly.

Card Party

The card party, sponsored by the Kipling PTA, held Monday evening at the Kipling hall was largely attended. Bridge, canasta, five hundred, smear, five hundred rummy, bunco and sheephead was played with awards in the various card games going to Mrs. Milton Berg for bridge, Karen Creten in canasta, Mrs. Lloyd Olson in five hundred, Russell Beechler in smear, Nancy Ducheny in five hundred rummy, Mrs. William Ducheny in bunco and William Artley in sheephead.

Lunch was served after the card contests and Diane Oja and Larry Gafner entertained the crowd with accordion selections.

The sum of thirty-five dollars was realized and will be presented to the Band Boosters Club for the new uniforms being purchased by the Gladstone High School band.

The committee was composed of Mrs. Dan Rivers, Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. Lawrence Gagner, Mrs. William Oja Jr., Mrs. Ed Haga and Mrs. George Siscoe.

State Official Inspects Buildings, Grounds Of Public School System

A survey and inspection of the buildings and grounds of the Gladstone Public School System was made this week by Roland Strolle, Lansing, of the Building and Planning Division of the Michigan State Department of Public Instruction.

Strolle came to Gladstone on Tuesday and completed the work yesterday.

Purpose of his visit to Gladstone is to assist the Gladstone School District in any future planning or expansion.

Supt. Wallace Cameron said it was expected that Strolle also would make certain recommendations in regard to improvement or development of the physical properties of the school system.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Isaacson, 520 Wisconsin Ave., are the parents of a son, Mark Allan, weighing 11 pounds and 12 1/2 ounces at birth on Tuesday February 4 at St. Francis Hospital. This is the second son and third child in the family. Mrs. Isaacson is the former Vera LaLonde, daughter of Mrs. Elmer Closs.

Officers Named By G-S Group

The Gladstone Community Association of the Delta County Girl Scout Council met on Tuesday evening in Mrs. Bredahl's room at the Junior High school and had an election of officers.

Mrs. John Norton Jr., was elected chairman, Mrs. Al Mortier, vice-chairman and Mrs. Richard Hammond, secretary.

The Community Association is made up of all the registered adults of the Council who reside in Gladstone. This includes leaders, co-leaders, troop committee members, Board members and members of functioning committees.

The chairman of each Community Assn. is a member of the Delta County Board of Directors and has a vote on the board to represent her community. Gladstone, Escanaba and Nahma are on the Delta County Board. The Nahma Association attended the meeting Tuesday evening.

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Often Due to Kidney Slow-down

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

GLADSTONE ESCANABA

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Info from the clients: Jim McNeill, manager of the high-flying Escanaba Hawks, informs us that the "feed bill" for four of the Canadian members of the team is a heavy drain on the treasury . . . Unemployed, but with hopes of picking up some work to help defray their expenses, are Joe Nogalo, Steve Butorac, Floyd Stac and Aimo Muhonen.

And from Frank Rodman of Hermansville: Any team that has not received an entry blank for the 17th annual Upper Michigan and Northern Wisconsin Amateur cage tourney that starts March 20 may contact him at Rodman's Bar . . . Over 75 entry blanks have been sent out . . . Deadline for entry is March 9.

BOWLING NOTES—The ladies in the Elks Wednesday League picked up splits all over the place last week . . . Joyce Hall knocked down the 4-7-10, Gloria Lee the 3-7-10 and Shirley Peltier the 6-7-10 . . . And in the Elks Monday Night wheel Wilma Perron picked up the 4-5-7.

At Gladstone last Thursday evening the Yacht Club Women's team rolled a 2325 series, highest ever rolled in the league and the second highest women's score in the history of the Midway lanes . . . Members of the team are Margaret Long, Eleanor Carriere, Ruth Hamilton, Lois LaFond and Madeline Archambeau.

Visiting teams have been getting royal treatment at Escanaba and Holy Name prep games . . . When the Gladstone Braves played at Holy Name they were treated to cold Cokes during the halftime . . . And when they played at Escanaba Tuesday night they got trays of cold sliced oranges between the halves . . . Very thoughtful and an excellent gesture of good will.

North Carolina State High Scoring Quintet

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

It appears that if North Carolina State can't be the "fastest" among the nation's college basketball teams, the Wolfpack at least is going to try to be the team with the "mostest."

The Wolfpack, at one time No. 2 in the Associated Press poll but down to No. 7 this week, is the first team to win 20 games this season. They did it 126-99 Wednesday night against William and Mary at Norfolk, Va.

In their last three games, the Pack has scored 339 points.

There was a total of 85 field goals in the game—22 of them by Ron Shavlik of NCS. He added 11 free throws for 55 points and a new record by an Atlantic Coast Conference player. The losers' John Mahoney scored a mere 37.

Ineligible for NCAA—The 126-point total by NCS—ineligible for the NCAA playoffs, incidentally, because of a probationary ban last spring—was a new high by an ACC team. Wake Forest had set the previous high only last week with 120 against Clemson.

Elsewhere, San Francisco kept its pace as the No. 1 team in the poll and the nation's defense leader with a 72-52 victory over Colgate of the Pacific. Big Bill Russell took charge of the boards and scored 27 points for the Dons in their 15th straight success.

Kentucky, making its first start since falling out of the No. 1 spot in this week's poll, knocked Georgia for a loop in the Southeastern Conference 86-40. The Wildcats, ranked No. 2, led 50-20 at the half.

Accepts Tourney Bid—Fourth-ranked Duquesne, which Wednesday ruled itself out of a possible NCAA at-large playoff berth by accepting an NIT bid, choked off Carnegie Tech 62-27.

Dayton, ranked No. 16, got ahead early and stayed there to defeat Miami (Ohio) 78-62. Cincinnati (No. 17) called on Jack Twyman for its last five points to edge Xavier (Ohio) 70-69.

A pair of upsets popped up.

Illinois Center Back In Action

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—George BonSalle, Illinois' sophomore center who has been hobbled with a sprained ankle, will be ready to start Saturday against Minnesota in a key game of the Big Ten Basketball title race.

The game at Minneapolis will be televised nationally (CBS) starting at 2 p. m. CST. Minnesota leads the conference with a 6-2 record and Illinois and Iowa share second place with 5-2 marks.

BonSalle, 6-7½, will give Illinois the height needed to reduce the advantage the Gophers have with 6-11 Bill Simonovich. The Minnesota giant now ranks 17th among conference scorers with an average of 16.2 points.

BonSalle missed two games but saw limited action against Michigan Monday. He scored 12 points and helped turn the tide for an 81-80 Illinois victory with fine rebounding.

With BonSalle starting, Coach Harry Combes can use his regular lineup of Bruce Brothers (with a 12.6 all-game average); Bill Altberger (8.5); Paul Judson (15.5) and Bill Ridley (16.7).

BonSalle ranks third among Illinois scorers with 13.6. The only change that may be made in the starting five would be replacing Stout at forward.

Stephenson Is New Foe On Escanaba's Grid Schedule

The Stephenson Eagles will be a new foe on Escanaba High School's football schedule in the 1955 season, Athletic Director Allan Mathison announced today.

Mary Agnes Wall Is Defeated In Tourney

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The 16 opening round survivors faced a grueling 36 holes of golf today in the Palm Beach Golf Club amateur women's tournament.

Only four players will be left when the two rounds are over.

Most of the favorites easily out-shot their opponents on opening day, but national amateur champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento had to fight all the way to the 18th hole before she defeated Gloria Armstrong of San Lorenzo, Calif., 1-up.

Pat Lesser of Seattle, co-favorite with Miss Romack, downed Carol Gallagher of West Palm Beach 5 and 4.

Mary Agnes Wall, of Menominee, Mich., was defeated 3 and 1 by Mrs. John Derr, upper Montclair, N. J., in a first round match.

Lowry Signed To Phillies Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced today the signing of outfielder Harry (Peanuts) Lowry, recently released from the St. Louis Cardinals.

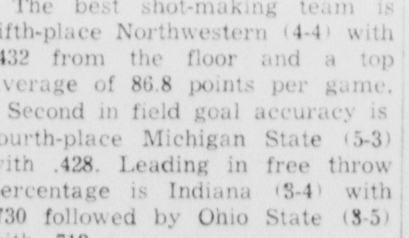

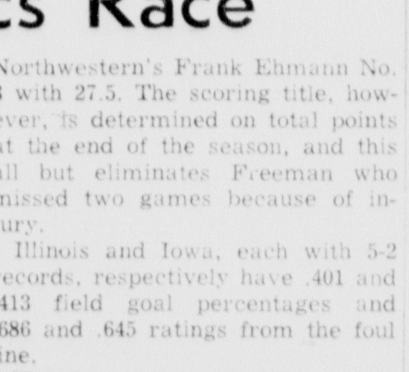

The Phils said Lowry will get a chance for a starting berth, but if he fails will be used in utility and pinchhitting roles.

Escanaba's schedule of grid games for next fall will call for five games on the road and three at home.

Addition of Stephenson to the Escanaba schedule is in line with both schools joining the Great Lakes Conference. Stephenson, meeting the minimum requirement of five conference games, will be a full-fledged Great Lakes member. Escanaba will not be eligible for championship consideration in football because the Eskymos will play only three conference teams next season. Both schools will be official conference members in basketball next last year.

Ludington Prep Team Likes New Cage Rule

LUDINGTON (AP)—No objection to the one-and-one free throw rule in Ludington.

In fact, the Orioles, defending champions of the North Central Michigan Class B Conference, have been hitting free throws at a torrid clip.

They've tossed in 222 successful free throws in 319 attempts for a blistering .695 percentage. The individual leader is Wally Sadosty, who has converted 42 of 44 for a .957 percentage.

Sawchuk Benched By Red Wings' Manager

DETROIT (AP)—Terry Sawchuk, the Detroit Red Wings' brilliant goalie today begins a one-week "mental vacation" that will keep him out of the Wings' next three games.

Riddled for 10 goals in Detroit's last two games, the 25-year-old netminder was benched Wednesday for the first time in his five-year career in the National Hockey League.

General Manager Jack Adams said he was giving Terry a three-game "rest—nothing more."

He will be replaced by Glenn

Bob Baker Wins Ring Knockout

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Baker, the Pittsburgh giant with the fragile hands, knocked out Willie James Wednesday night, and into what could be fistic oblivion.

The end came at 2:05 of the second round of the scheduled 10-round.

It was mostly James in the first round. The 207-pound youngster kept Baker's head in motion with well-placed lefts.

Baker, fourth ranked nationally in the heavyweight division, took command in the second round. A series of right hand punches finished the brief affair.

James managed to struggle to his knees as referee Benny Goldstein tolled 10. He said after the fight the TV camera made him nervous and hoped he could fight Baker again.

Baker had other ideas. The 210-pound negro with 38 victories in 43 fights said he wants to "fight where the money is."

The reference was, naturally, to champion Rocky Marciano.

Mantle Twins Attend Yankee Rookie School

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The New York Yankees' annual rookie school opened and among the young baseball players attending were twins from Commerce, Okla., with a potent baseball name—Ray and Roy Mantle. They are brothers of Yankee centerfielder Mickey Mantle and also play the outfield.

The 19-year-old rookies played with McAlester, Okla., last year. Ray hit .284 and Roy Batted .325.

The Stephenson game, to be played under the lights at Sawbridge Field, will open Escanaba's 1955 schedule on Sept. 2. All other opponents were on the schedule

Littler Favorite In Tucson Open Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Eager youngsters are expected to play important roles in the $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament starting today.

If there is an individual favorite it is Gene Littler, 24-year-old former sailor who is leading money winner this year. He triumphed at Los Angeles and again at Phoenix last week. Putting troubled him Wednesday but he still shot one under par 69.

Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., teamed with Don Thomas of Tucson to finish ahead of the field in the pro-amateur with a low ball score of 58. Mayer poked $300. Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., made $100 with his 63, lowest of the day.

Blackhawks Will Play At Gladstone Tonight

GLADSTONE—The Escanaba Blackhawks, top team in the Upper Peninsula Amateur Hockey League, will take on the Gladstone Indians here tonight at 7 at the playgrounds rink.

The Blackhawks won two previous games against the Indians and have also defeated the Menominee Wildcats. Their lone loss was a 7-3 decision to Menominee last week.

A return game between the Indians and the Blackhawks will be played Sunday afternoon at the Escanaba Junior High rink.

when they tangle with the Marquette Sentinels at the Palestra.

The Hawks have lost only one game in their last 10 starts and are a solid second in the league standings with 19 points. The Canadian Soo sextet leads with 27.

Marquette rests in the loop cellar, six points off the pace of the Hawks. Calumet and Portage Lake are tied for third with 14 points.

In the scoring department the Hawks have put 69 goals into enemy nets, second high in the league. The Portage Lake Pioneers have scored 86. Escanaba's defensive record, however, is the poorest in the loop with opponents scoring 84 goals.

After tonight's game at Marquette the Hawks will play four more league games. The revised schedule follows:

Feb. 10—Marquette there.
Feb. 22—Portage Lake there.
Feb. 27—Marquette here.
March 1—Portage Lake here.
March 5—Calumet there.

Chuck Purvis Seeks Grid Coaching Job

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Chuck Purvis, 37, backfield coach at the University of Illinois, is among candidates reportedly applying for the head football coaching job at Louisiana State.

Purvis was said to have been on the campus Tuesday for an interview with officials.

Purvis, born at Sullivan, Ill., was a halfback on Bob Zuppke's Illini teams of 1938 and 1939, and coached at high schools in Charleston and Mattoon, Ill., before entering the Navy.

Among the athletic assignments he held in service was a two-year stint as assistant football coach at the U. S. Naval Academy.

After his discharge in 1946 he was on the Auburn coaching staff and then returned to Illinois as freshman grid assistant in 1948.

Jim Davis, Chicago Cub pitcher, works for a San Francisco furniture store during the off-season.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE YOUR PRESS WANT AD To sell lots, farms, pets, livestock, machinery, cars, household items, etc.

Use This Simplified Method To Figure Cost Of Ad:

FIRST—Count every word in your ad. Fifteen-word minimum.

SECOND—Multiply the number of words by 5c for one time, by 10c for three times, and by 15c for six times. This will give you the exact cost.

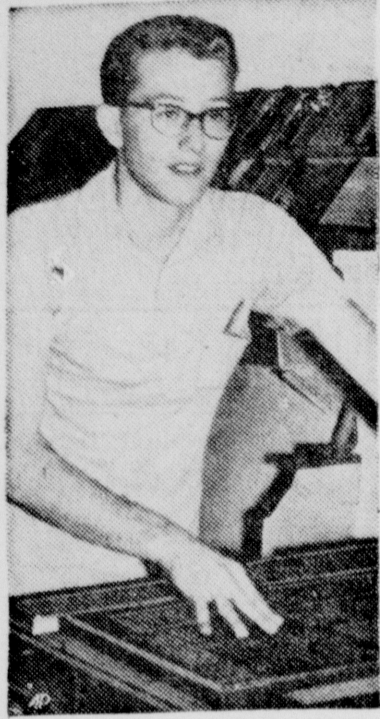

EXAMPLE

15 words for three times would be 15c x 3 = 45c.

15 words for six times would be 15c x 6 = 90c.

REMITTANCE

Needed Job; Boy
Starts His Own
Weekly Newspaper

Working his way through college, Paul Bunge has become publisher of his own paper.

FREMONT, Neb. — When journalism student Paul Bunge couldn't find the kind of a newspaper job he wanted to earn his way through school he started a paper of his own.

Now the 20-year-old Midland College junior is editor and publisher of the Arlington Citizen, a four-page weekly which goes to some 1,100 homes in the nearby Arlington area.

Bunge is his own news writer, advertising solicitor and shop foreman. He hires a part-time printer and his wife, Nadine, pitches in to fold and mail the papers and keep books.

"Running the Citizen and doing my school work keeps me hustling," Bunge admits, but he's been able to maintain a B-plus average in his studies just the same.

Bunge got his first newspaper experience while he was in high school at Auburn, Neb., working for the Nemaha County Herald.

"I think the weekly newspaper has an important place in the life of any rural community," he says, and he intends to make it a full-time job when he graduates.

DEAR DEER

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP)—John Pritchard, 35, of Dearborn recently bagged more than his limit of deer in Michigan. And he isn't happy about it.

Pritchard told State Police two deer ran into his car on a highway near Cheboygan. But state conservation officers took the deer carcasses and distributed the venison to state institutions. All Pritchard had to show for his feat was a bill for $300 for repairs to his automobile.

Experience a man buys is seldom as good as samples submitted.

Contract Bridge

By Josephine Culbertson

AN ELEMENTARY ERROR

West's defensive error in the following hand was of the sort that is made very frequently—but that does not mean that it was excusable.

South would have had a laydown at three notrump but he could scarcely know that, and his actual jump to four hearts was entirely logical.

West opened a low spade and South took East's king. Two rounds of trumps were cashed, followed by the club ace; then South led to the club king and ruffed a club. He returned to dummy with a trump to ruff away the last club, then he simply exited with the spade jack.

West, in with the spade queen, realized that he could not afford to return a spade, but in shifting to diamonds he made a very bad choice of cards. Presumably, he felt that he would have to find

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 9 3	♥ K 10 9 5	♦ 7 5 4	♣ K 9 3 2
♠ Q 8 7 5 4	♥ A 10 6	♦ Q 7 4	♣ A J
♠ 10 6 2	♥ K J 3 2	♦ J 10 8 6	♣ A J
♠ A J	♥ A Q J 8 6 3	♦ Q 9 8	♣ A 5

The bidding:
South 1♥ Pass
West 1♠ Pass
North 2♥ Pass
East 3♥ Pass

his partner with excellent diamonds; at any rate, he laid down the ace, then led the ten. This sequence established declarer's diamond queen and the contract was home.

West was correct in thinking that he had to lead a diamond when he was thrown in with the spade queen, but he obviously should not have led the ace. South's hand had been shown as six hearts, two clubs and at least two spades. If he did not have three diamonds, it would be impossible to defeat the contract. Moreover, if he had the diamond king, he would be safe. The one hope from West's point of view was that East held at least the king and jack of diamonds, and on that analysis West should have led the six so that East could win with the king and then return a diamond through declarer to West's ace.

Obviously, this low diamond lead by West would have given the defenders four tricks.
